A skilled software engineer specializing in iOS development using Swift, SwiftUI, and Objective-C. I have managed teams, developed applications, and maintained large-scale projects for various well-known companies including KFC, CXApp and Airlift Technologies. In addition to my iOS expertise, I have also ventured into hybrid app development, having worked extensively with Flutter and React Native for a year. This experience has given me a broader perspective on cross-platform development, allowing me to leverage my skills across multiple platforms and deliver high-quality applications efficiently.
